

Call for Posters: International Symposium on Science and Culture of Alcoholic Beverages

You are invited to submit poster presentations at the 2024 International Symposium on Science and Culture of Alcoholic Beverages at the University of California, Davis, on November 4–5, 2024.

The Symposium is co-organized by the University of California at Davis and Jiangnan University in China, two leading institutions in viticulture and enology. The Symposium provides an international platform for researchers, scientists, business managers, and industry practitioners to exchange ideas and share knowledge in the field of alcoholic beverages. The Symposium will start with registration and a reception on November 4 and have a full day of presentations on November 5.

Deadline for Abstract Submission: September 20, 2024

Notification of Acceptance: October 1, 2024

Suggested Topics:

Original research papers are solicited on, but not limited to, the following topics:

- The science of alcoholic beverage brewing
- The impact of climate change on alcoholic beverage brewing
- Market and future trends of alcoholic beverage
- History and culture of alcoholic beverage brewing

Travel Grant: Authors who are selected to present posters at the Symposium will receive a $300 travel grant.

Submission Link: <https://forms.gle/fdPjtRxi2oZQ9QZe6> (for international submissions)

Submission Link: <https://docs.qq.com/form/page/DRUtjVnlKakhHUVFI> (for submissions from China)

For inquiries, please contact Professor Jinjing Wang at jnjwang@ucdavis.edu.